NEW FARM BILL SET FOR HOUSE PASSAGE TODAY

Chamber Approves Consumer-Protection Amendment as Part of AAA Substitute.

YEAR'S LIMIT HALF BILLION

Measure Authorizes Direct U. S. Payments to Farmers for Conservation of Soil.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—Passage of the administration $500,000,000 farm bill by nightfall was the aim of house leaders today as they rallied against amendments unacceptable to them.

The house, however, wrote a consumer-protection amendment into the bill.

The amendment was proposed by Rep. McCormack, Democrat of Massachusetts. It would direct the secretary of agriculture to work toward a pre-war "parity" income for the farmer without discouraging production to a point below the 1919-29 average domestic consumption. Accepted by Chairman Jones, Democrat of Texas, of the agriculture committee, the consumer provision was along the lines of the farmer amendment defeated by a wide margin in the senate.

After McCormack had explained the interests of his industrial area in protection of the consumer, Jones told the house the amendment was acceptable since it included the 1909-14 "parity" objective for farm income. This would be attained by seeking to reestablish the ratio of that period between the net income of the farmer and non farmer.

The amendment was adopted on a voice vote.

Since the leaders plan to pass the measure as an amendment to a very similar bill recently approved by the senate, further action by the latter chamber will be necessary before the legislation goes to the White House.

Yesterday the house, following the senate's example, wrote into the bill a $500,000,000 limit on the money which can be spent in any one year.

The bill, a substitute for the invalidated AAA, amends the 1935 soil conservation act by authorizing federal payments direct to farmers until Dec. 31, 1937, for soil conservation and "economic" use of land. After Dec. 31, 1937, or earlier if states desired to cooperate, the federal payments would go to farmers through state agencies. Payments then could be made for stabilizing agricultural prices and maintaining farmers' purchasing power, as well as the original purposes.

The main battle was on the issue. Progressive of Wisconsin, for amendment to prevent subsidized farmers from producing dairy commodities with the aid of land taken out of wheat, cotton or other production.

ANOTHER COLD WAVE THREATENS MIDWEST

Mercury Not Likely To Drop Below Zero Mark, However; More People Die.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Feb. 21 — Another cold wave today threatened the plains states after a brief respite from sub-zero weather. Forecaster C. A. Donnell of the Chicago weather bureau predicted it would be colder today, but said there was no immediate prospect of sub-zero temperatures. The midnight reading here was 19 above.

"Cold weather, but in less severe form, will prevail in all north central plains states Friday and Saturday," Donnel said, "while in other sections temperatures will range from 5 to 10 degrees below normal, except in Kansas which will be above normal."

Deaths from weather causes continued. Wisconsin reported three persons died as a result of infection from frozen parts of the bodies. A Chicago railroad fruit inspector died of carbon monoxide poisoning from a charcoal burner in a refrigerator car. Two more persons died from inhaling gas, believed to have seeped into their homes from a broken gas main in De-

TOWNSEND FOE OF THIRD PARTY

Doctor Also Claims His Faction Will Not Enter State Primary Contests.

WANTS TO AVOID FIGHT

Stand on Primary Refers to Plan To Back McGroarty in California Campaign.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 —One threat of a third party movement faded today with the announcement of Dr. F. E. Townsend that his old age pension organization will not back such a proposal.

Townsend declared that neither will his group join movements in any state that would mean a conflict in presidential primaries of either party.

The co-founder of the $200-a-month pension plan, referred to a proposal to enter a delegation in the California primary nominally pledged to Rep. McGroarty Democrat of California for president. Townsend declared "such a program could only bring defeat and discredit to the Townsend movement," though he said the movement's leaders had no desire to "antagonize" any such "favorite son" candidacy as McGroarty's.

Says Townsend Misunderstands

McGroarty, author of a measure to pay up to $200 a month pensions, declared in the capital that he did not believe Dr. Townsend "understands what we have in mind."

He declared "the plan is to send a delegation to the Democratic national convention pledged to an effort to secure adoption of a plank in the national platform indorsing the Townsend old age pension movement."

The question to be answered was:

Will the Townsendites in California, or elsewhere, go ahead with any primary plans in opposition to the express wishes of the man in the title role?

The "favorite son" question also came into Republican discussion.

Says 'Son' Plan Is Out

Sen. Borah, first to enter a presidential primary, claimed to have eliminated the favorite son system of picking delegates to the national convention. Sen. Gibson Republican of Vermont, however charged that party members in some sections were "proceeding in the same old repudiated way" by choosing "stand-patters" for convention delegates.

Borah talked sharply against the favorite son system long before he entered the Ohio primary lists.

"It would seem from developments," Borah said today, "that the fraud of favorite sons has been pretty well eliminated from the campaign. They will finally all along the line, have to get out in the open and tell the people who their candidates are. This is going to be an open campaign, if anything I can do will make it so, on both issues and candidates."

Coincidentally, Sen. Nye, Republican of North Dakota, predicted that his state's delegation would be instructed to vote for Borah.

DEATHS MOUNT AS ARMY RULES RIOTING SPAIN

Leftist Government Takes Steps To Halt Disorders by Ordering Troops Out.

(Copyright, 1936, Associated Press)

MADRID, Feb. 21—Civil guards killed two extremist rioters and wounded 10 more at Bollullos Del Condado, Huelva province, today raising the total of election dead to 27 persons.

Meanwhile martial law spread through Spain against revived radical rioting in which churches and rightist centers were raided and the red flag of communism raised at isolated points.

The new left-Republican government of Premier Manuel Azana, which came into power after the leftist victory in Sunday's parliamentary elections, took immediate measures to attempt to halt the celebration disorders and demonstrations.

Armed Guards Sent Out

One hundred guards, armed with machine guns, were dispatched to the town of Ecija, in the far southwestern province of Huelva, where Communists proclaimed a soviet state and raised their red flag.

Police clashed with another group of demonstrators, displaying the red flag in Hoyo Pinares, Avila province, and one woman was killed there.

The government decided to ask President Niceto Alcala Zamora's signature to a decree authorizing the cabinet to submit to the permanent parliamentary committee the question of an immediate amnesty for all political prisoners.

The entire nation was under a state of alarm, putting the police forces on guard; martial law extended to Alicante, Cordoba Murcia, Valencia and Zaragoza provinces and a declaration of general martial law appeared imminent.

In view of the mounting demonstrations by the leftists, reluctant to wait until the amnesty could be debated by the parliament, the government arranged for an early meeting of the parliamentary commission on the question.

The leftist demonstrations arose anew yesterday, after previous election disorders and prison rioting caused 13 deaths. Eight more were known dead and 45 reported wounded in the fresh outbreak.

'STOLEN' CALEDONIA MAIL BAG FOUND IN COAL CAR

Missing Pouch Discovered in C. & O. Yards Here After Posse Searches Hours for Thieves.

After hours had been spent hunting for "thieves" believed to have stolen a mail pouch at Caledonia last night, the missing bag was found, unopened, in an empty coal car in the C. & O. railroad yards shortly before noon today.

Sheriff Fred F. Miller and deputies started the search this morning when it was reported from the Caledonia postoffice that the pouch had been taken.

The pouch had been placed on a railroad crane at the Caledonia railroad station in such a way that a westbound Erie passenger train would pick it from the crane without stopping when it went through shortly after 7:15 last night.

The hunt ended abruptly when a C. & O. yard crew called the Marion postoffice shortly before noon reporting they had found the bag inside an empty gondola freight car. The car, they explained, had been received from the Erie railroad earlier in the morning.

It is the theory of postoffice employes here that the freight train, passing through Caledonia ahead of the passenger train last night, swept the pouch from the crane at the Caledonia station, the air suction drawing the bag into the car.

The pouch had not been opened or tampered with, and all of the shipment of first class mail for Marion and points west, including bank checks headed for the clearing house here, were found in it. The shipment of mail was being delivered this afternoon, a few hours late.

Officers said the discovery of the bag, undamaged, eliminated the theft theory that started the search last night.

John Thompson, filling station operator, who carries the mail bags between the postoffice and the railroad station at Caledonia, said he hung the pouch on the crane last night at 7:15 for the Erie train, due a few minutes later. The train, however, was more than an hour late. Postoffice officials said the freight train must have passed the station ahead of it but after Thompson had placed the pouch on the crane.

Thompson discovered the loss of the bag last night and a small posse was organized to hunt for it. They walked the tracks for several miles west of Caledonia during their search.

FARM FINANCE BILL IN MAKING

Roosevelt Says Measure Will Be Formulated Finally After Trip to Hyde Park Home.

CONFERENCES CONTINUE

Congress Welcomes Reports by Experts Hinting at Light Tax as Election Nears.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—President Roosevelt said today the tax bill to finance the new farm program would be formulated finally after his return next week from his home in Hyde Park, N. Y.

He added that conferences with the heads of government spending agencies would continue through April.

Discussions with the officers of the government lending units, Mr. Roosevelt told newsmen, have been about completed.

A billion dollar cancellation in authorized borrowing has been projected by the President, but he has given no intimation of what may be accomplished in the way of curtailing direct expenditures.

Legislators hoping and praying that President Roosevelt will make the tax bill as small as possible in this campaign year took comfort in optimistic notes struck by congressional tax advisers.

Noting a rise of $38,626,126 in ordinary internal revenue collections last month as compared with January, 1935, the advisers gave figures to show that with a further upswing in business the present tax rates would pour much more money into the treasury than it ever received in peak prosperity years.

One congressional tax expert said that present levies, applied to earnings approximating those of 1929, would produce $6,765,000 annually. Total revenue receipts recently have been running at the rate of $5,000,000,000 a year, almost as much as the receipts in 1929, when the tax structure was different.

These figures were welcome to congress members who have been arguing that sizeable new tax levies are not necessary, despite the deficit, relief demands, congressional passage of the bonus, and the wiping out of AAA's processing taxes by the supreme court.

Despite the gain in ordinary internal revenue, the shutting-off of processing taxes led to a net drop of $10,000,000 in January, 1936, as compared to the previous January.

Most legislators expect Mr. Roosevelt to recommend taxes, perhaps totaling $500,000,000, to succeed the processing levies and to support the new farm program expected to pass the house this week.

FEAR TYPHOID AT COSHOCTON

Officials Plan Wholesale Inoculations To Check Malady Afflicting 1,500.

WATER IS CONTAMINATED

Illness Continues To Spread to All Sections of City; Quantities of Serum Rushed In.

By The Associated Press

COSHOCTON, O., Feb. 21 — Health department officials prepared today for wholesale inoculations against typhoid fever in this town of 11,000, where 1,500 have been affected by a mysterious malady.

Consternation reigned among residents following a report by Dr. W. B. Johnston, state health department officer, who said two sample tests of water taken Wednesday showed contamination.

Dr. Johnson said the tests disclosed colon bacillus, and "where there is colon bacillus there also can be typhoid."

Physicians reported the illness continued to spread to all sections of the city. They were so busy that they were unable to check accurately the number treated, but many agreed the total would exceed an estimated 1,500.

Extra quantities of typhoid serum were rushed to the city.

Among those ill of the intestinal malady were 600 school children. The Newark-Coshocton high school basketball game scheduled tonight was postponed.

Additional samples of water were taken yesterday and were being tested today at Columbus. A report will be made Saturday.

City Schools Close

City schools have been closed and repeated warnings given to all householders to boil all drinking water.

Dr. W. A. McMichael, county health commissioner, diagnosed the ailment as gastro enteritis, or intestinal influenza, under which the victims fall violently ill but recover rapidly.

Health Department Engineer H. V. Bevier, who came from Columbus, also criticised the municipal waterworks for "cross contacting" lines of industries having their own water supplies.

He said such connections would permit water from private wells to enter city mains.

PLANT FOUND IN OPERATION

Broadley, State Inspector, Leads Officers in Trapping George Street Man.

TWO MEN HELD IN CUSTODY

Raiders Find 1,750 Gallons of Whisky Mash; Still Has Capacity of 150 Gallons Daily.

Illicit manufacture of liquor in Marion was dealt a smashing blow when State Liquor Inspector K. T. Broadley and Marion police shortly after midnight today seized a plant having an estimated capacity of 150 gallons of whisky a day.

The plant was found in the basement of the residence of American J. Hansone, 28, at 204 East George street, just three blocks from the uptown business district.

It is the biggest liquor manufacturing plant seized in the city within the recollection of police.

The raiding officers confiscated 1021½ gallons of whisky, 1,750 of whisky mash, a large still, 73 pounds of yeast, five hydrometers used to test the alcoholic content of both the mash and the whisky and other miscellaneous equipment.

They arrested two men, Hansone and Robino J. Nicolosi, 23, who gave his address as 141 Waterloo street. Nicolosi was quoted by police as saying he was visiting at the Hansone home.

Mrs. Hansone, 23, and her three-year-old daughter, Diana, were the only other persons in the house when the officers raided it at 12:15 a. m. They were left at the house, following the raid, with two policemen assigned to watch the confiscated property and detain Mrs. Hansone as a material witness. Hansone and Nicolosi were taken to police station.

Broadley's Total Grows

Last night's raid brought to a total of 22 the number of arrests made in Marion and Morrow county on liquor law violation charges since Inspector Broadley began his work in the two counties several weeks ago.

Police Chief William E. Marks, one of the party of six officers who took part in the raid, said Hansone and Nicolosi were not questioned last night, but will be quizzed today. He estimated the daily capacity of 150 gallons of whisky was marketed not only in Marion but in nearby cities.

Chief Marks said it was uncertain this morning what charges will be placed against the two men, but indicated at least one of them would face a charge of illegal manufacture of liquor. In addition to the penalty for this charge, the operator of the still faces possible heavy assessments of federal taxes for liquor that has been manufactured, Inspector Broadley said.

Chief Marks and Inspector Broadley estimated, from meager information obtained last night, that the still has been in operation since about Oct. 15.

May Give Case To U. S.

Inspector Broadley said that when charges are filed against one or both of the two men held, they probably will be given opportunity to plead guilty to the charges in municipal court here. If they decide to fight the charges, they probably will be turned over to the district federal court in Toledo for prosecution, he said.

The inspector said the liquor confiscated by the raid is subject to a federal tax of $1.10 a gallon, and a penalty of $5 a gallon for failure to pay the tax. When Baby Cries

MOTHERS APE naturally eager for their children to be well and strong free from pain and discomfort Many young mothers become unduly alarmed when the baby cries But they must not be misled into the belief that a baby never cries unless it is in pain A perfectly healthy normal baby will cry as well as laugh and is usually quite noisy

I believe that many mothers create a good deal of unnecessary work for themselves by pampering and fussing with the young infant It is amazing how quickly the infant learns that by crying it will be picked up and petted But when it finds its performances are of no avail it will soon cease to cry

Of course persisting crying may be a sign that something is wrong With a little experience it is easy to distinguish between the cry of pain and the cry of anger or annoyance Whenever in doubt examine the baby and make sure whether there is real cause for discomfort

The discomfort may be due to a loose pin in a wrinkled blanket At times the baby is uncomfortable because of overfeeding or may be distressed because of hunger A wet or soiled diaper is a common cause of crying

Bear in mind that there is no need to amuse the baby A healthy baby is a contented and happy baby It will lie in the crib and play with its fingers toes or a toy It only cries for outside entertainment if it is accustomed to receive it

Break the baby of this habit if it has been acquired But at once all refrain from picking up baby upon the first cry or sign of displeasure If it cries during the night do not give the child a cracker a drink or a toy to quiet it This will start an undesirable habit and will lead to many disturbed nights both for parent and child

It must be said of course that wakefulness or crying at night may be due to pain or some illness but usually the truth can be determined by other signs of illness such as fever vomiting diarrhea or signs of a cold in the head

When the child is put to bed make sure it is neither too warm nor cold Have the sheets smooth avoiding all wrinkles in the bed Be sure that pins are not awkwardly placed

Once it is decided to break an undesirable habit it is best for all who contact the baby to agree upon the plan If the mother refuses to pick up the infant it is unwise for father or one of the grandparents to do so This lack of discipline will not break the child of a bad habit

2 Things to D
TO EASE COLD INSTANTLY
Discomfort and Aches Go Almost Instant This Way

1. Take 2 BAYER ASPIRIN Tablets and drink a full glass of water Repeat treatment in 2 hours

2. If throat is sore, crush BAYER ASPIRIN Tablets in glass of water Gargle to ease throat rawness and irritation instantly

THE pictured directions above show perhaps the quickest simplest and most modern method yet discovered to combat cold and sore throat

Your own doctor will approve this way Millions of people have discarded cold killers and patent nostrums for this modern way It relieves the average cold almost as fast as you caught it

Note that all you do is this

Two Bayer Aspirin tablets with a full glass of water

Three Bayer Aspirin tablets crushed and dissolved in ½ glass of water as a gargle Gargle with this mixture twice holding your head well back to permit this medicated gargle to reach the irritated membranes of the throat

The Bayer Aspirin you take internally acts to fight a cold almost instantly AND—eases the aches and pains that accompany most colds

The gargle acts instantly like a local anesthetic to soothe pains in the throat and throat irritation

Try this way You will be amazed at how quickly you can get relief Be sure though to get genuine BAYER ASPIRIN tablets that dissolve almost instantly in the stomach Hence start to work almost instantly And also thoroughly effective for use as a gargle

Why BAYER Aspirin Works So Fast
Drop a Bayer Aspirin tablet in a glass of water By the time it reaches the bottom the glass is ready to disintegrate and go to work

In 2 Seconds By Stop Watch
A Genuine Bayer Aspirin tablet starts to disintegrate and go to work in 2 seconds By stop watch What happens in the stomach happens in your stomach when the BAYER Aspirin tablet you are taking hold of pain in most cases after taking

INDUSTRY HEAD SPEAKS HERE

M. A. Keith Stresses Need of Departmental Cooperation in Traffic Club Talk.

The prime importance of cooperation between purchasing managers and traffic departments of industrial concerns was stressed in a talk given last night by Ronald A. Keith of Columbus, manager, who was president of the Ohio State Industrial Traffic League, before approximately 75 Ohio industrial executives and representatives at Hotel Harding.

The meeting was an educational meeting of the Central Ohio Traffic club in which Marion industries and railroads are represented.

A second featured part of the club's program was turned over to the Pan-American Airways for screening of an hour-long talking motion picture showing epochal flights over the United States and South American countries. The speech and film were preceded by a dinner in the hotel ballroom.

C. K. Smaltz of Mansfield, traffic manager of the Mansfield Tire & Rubber Co., acted as toastmaster and introduced Mr. Keith. The speaker is traffic manager of the International Stacey Corp. of Columbus, manufacturers of electric hoisters and derricks.

Mr. Keith pointed out the advantages to an industrial firm when all its departments are functioning together. The purchasing, sales and traffic departments should keep each other advised of all movements and changes affecting the company, especially as to changing freight rates and price fluctuations, he said. He showed that in many instances this cooperation will mean a tangible saving to the concern. Even a change in prices or rates of a half cent may result in a saving of several hundred dollars he said.

Mr. Keith explained that until recently traffic departments were regarded lightly. Today it has become one of the most important cogs in the successful operation of the company, he said.

Housekeeping is about the least hazardous of all occupations according to studies by accident insurance companies.

Voters Study All Issues of '36 Campaign

Editor's Note: This is one of a series on the 1936 presidential campaign, its issues and its personalities.

BY RICHARD HIPPELHEUSER,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21—The position of Herbert Hoover in the Republican party has mystified even many of the Republicans themselves.

The former President, only living Republican occupant of the White House, is the nominal head of his party. In recent months he has made several trips across the continent and has conferred with G. O. P. leaders in many states. He has made a detailed criticism of the Roosevelt new deal in a series of major speeches.

Yet, there is none of the surface activity in his behalf comparable with the activity in behalf of Alf M. Landon or Sen. William E. Borah or Col. Frank Knox.

His words have been scanned carefully in a search for his possible intentions or hopes in '36. In the political conversations common to everyone, this question constantly arises:

What is Hoover going to do?

From Palo Alto, there has come, as yet, no answer.

One possible answer is given privately by prominent party leaders who have conferred with the former President. They say he will sit back and wait.

Mr. Hoover is in a peculiar position so far as delegates are concerned.

Suppose he did try to obtain instructed delegations. If he waged a hard fight, he would go into Ohio, as he did in 1928. But the state committee in Ohio has declared against him.

His native state, Iowa, is being asked to send a delegation behind a favorite son, Sen. Dickinson.

Gov. Merriam is said to want the delegation from Mr. Hoover's adopted state, California.

If the "old guard" favored the former President's renomination, the uninstructed delegation and the "favorite son" candidacy might be considered of aid to Hoover.

But not a few of the "old guard" were against Hoover at Kansas City in 1928; and, from all appearances, they are against him this year.

Marion Market Shelves Stocked With New Items

King Winter's icy hand failed to stop the flow of fresh produce to Marion market stands this week, dealers let it be known today.

While prices on some items remained up a bit due to severe weather in the south and southwest a good quantity of nice produce reached local dealers.

Conspicuous among the fresh shipments are pineapples from Cuba, Florida strawberries and New York state Jonathan apples. The pineapples are large and excellent quality and the price is reasonable. The strawberries from sunny Florida are unusually good this week, dealers report, with the price around 20 cents a pint, slightly under the amount usually asked at this time of year.

Just as the apple situation was beginning to worry market men the Empire state came through with a new shipment of fine Jonathans and reasonable enough to retail at five cents a pound.

And for a novelty that will be welcomed by those who feel justified in splurging a bit for table delicacies, Mexico has sent honeydew melons.

Another item epicureans might relish is California asparagus, a new arrival commanding around 60 cents a pound.

Some produce is singing its swan song this month. Among this classification is Texas pink grapefruit. Other fading items include California figs and dates from far off Egypt. Both have had an unusually long season, the market men say. Tangerines also are taking their leave.

Produce continuing high in price this week includes lemons, limes and virtually all hothouse stuff. The latter took a jump more than a week ago because of the coal shortage. Limes are reported scarce, and lemons are short because of slow shipments from Italy.

Green peas and green beans continued to hold up in price at between 15 and 20 cents a pound.

The potato situation perked up a bit this week with shipments of the old crop from Maine, and extra good new potatoes from Florida.

Fine quality head lettuce from California is here. Both California and Florida are doing well by us with orange shipments. The Californias are the best "eaters" and the Floridas hold the top for juice. Saucy rhubarb also is available.

Other popular items which reached the stands in good quantity and quality are Brussels sprouts, broccoli, cauliflower, carrots and beets, all from California.

RUM AND THE LAW

Repetition of Offense Sends Farmer to Workhouse.

Special to The Star

KENTON, Feb. 21—Leslie Smith, farmer of near Dola, has concluded that this is not his lucky year.

Early in January he was arrested by Kenton police for being intoxicated. When he appeared here three days later to pay his fine he decided to celebrate his freedom from clutches of the law and was taken back to jail for driving while intoxicated. Yesterday he again decided to press his luck, although a suspended fine and sentence carried provisions that he must not drive a motor vehicle for six months, and was arrested on a driving while intoxicated charge by state highway patrolmen. Today he was to be taken to the Toledo workhouse.

HERE ARE THE REAL FACTS ABOUT BRAN

Brought Out by Tests with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Some years ago, there was considerable difference of opinion regarding the use of bran. So to discover the actual facts of the case, the Kellogg Company asked for a series of laboratory tests at leading universities.

Experimental studies on a group of healthy women showed that the continued use of bran was thoroughly satisfactory. Unlike cathartics, it did not lose its effect.

Other independent tests on men indicated that, with certain people, the "bulk" in bran was more effective than that found in fruits and vegetables.

Laboratory analysis proved that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplied vitamin B and iron as well as plenty of bulk. This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is gentle in action. It absorbs a great deal of moisture, and cleanses the intestinal tract.

ALL-BRAN corrects constipation due to insufficient "bulk." It is the natural way—far better than using pills and tablets.

Serve as a cereal—or use in cooking. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

CAPTURE OF ADERAT REPORTED BY ITALY

Town Half-Way Point Between Makale and Amba Alagi Next Major Offensive.

By The Associated Press

Advance columns of the Italian army in northern Ethiopia reported to headquarters today that they had captured Aderat, 20 miles south of Makale

The capture of Aderat was considered most important by military experts at Rome because of its situation as the half way point between Makale and Amba Alagi—the latter believed to be the next major objective of the Italians

It was at this point that Italian forces were driven back in the ill fated expedition of 1895

At the same time Ras Mulugheta commander of the Ethiopian forces in the area reported to Addis Ababa that he had made a "strategic retreat losing 147 men killed and 408 wounded

CROPS BETTER BUT SOIL NOT SO GOOD

By International News Service

CHARDON O—A committee of county farmers studying crop and soil conditions has found that crop yields are about 10 per cent higher than they were 50 years ago but that the average county soil production is considerably lower than it was a half century ago

This is explained by the fact farmers now use better seeds fertilizers fertilizer lime more and better machinery for tillage upon our fields etc which in previous years did not have These additional practices are necessary but necessary as a result of the general decrease in soil productivity

MINISTRY VERY ANTI-NEW DEAL

Vote 70 to 30 Per Cent Against Roosevelt Policies in Special Digest Survey.

NEW YORK CITY, Feb. 21—The clergy are more opposed to the new deal than the country at large according to the findings of a special Literary Digest poll of the nation's clergy of all denominations which has been conducted since the recent 10,000,000-ballot referendum of the magazine on the administration's policies.

A total of 21,626 clergy returned voted ballots of which 70.22 per cent were tallied "no" and 29.78 per cent "yes" in answer to the question: "Do you now approve the acts and policies of the Roosevelt 'new deal' to date?"

Public 62 Per Cent

The final returns of The Literary Digest main poll to the general voters, which was published five weeks ago showed 62.66 per cent of the participants against the new deal.

A poll on the same subject conducted among the clergy in the early summer of 1934 indicated that 55 per cent of the clergy were in favor of the administration's policies then.

Only in three states, Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina, are the clergy shown voting in favor of the new deal in the current tabulation which is published in this week's issue of The Literary Digest. These three states evidence approximately 2 to 1 majorities for Roosevelt's acts and policies.

Contrary to Other Voters

The clergy of Arkansas, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, North Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and Utah are recorded as favoring Roosevelt's policies in the present poll while in the recent nationwide poll the general voters in these states were shown supporting the new deal substantially.

In 45 states the body of the clergy returned majority with a majority opposed to the administration's acts and policies while two were almost even in that.

The anti-new deal majority from clergymen in New England is considerably less than it was in the recent main poll when the northeast section of the country balloted nearly 4 to 1 against the new deal.

4 to 1 Against

Maryland and Delaware show the heaviest clergy vote, of 4 to 1, against the new deal.

The clergy in West Virginia, Washington, Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Florida indicate approximate majorities of 3 to 1 against the new deal, while those in the other 25 states register less pronounced opposition.

"Of the 21,626 who responded to the poll, 15,172 vote 'no' and 6,454 vote 'yes,' the magazine states in its current issue.

"The negative percentage—70.22—is almost 8 per cent higher than that of the main poll. Only 29.78 per cent of the clergymen vote 'yes,' whereas in the 10,000,000-ballot poll the favorable percentage was 37.06.

7 Out of 10 Opposed

Another way of showing the results is to point out that more than seven clergymen out of 10 are opposed to new deal policies today.

"In The Literary Digest poll of 1924, on the same subject, 13,918 churchmen approved the new deal, while a minority of 11,249 opposed it.

"Analysis of the figures by states shows only Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina clergymen giving a majority for new deal policies. In the 10,000,000-ballot poll 12 states are favorable.

OHIO CROW HUNTERS EAT NOVEL FEAST

Special to The Star

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 21—The Ohio Crow Hunters' association sat down at noon today to a crow dinner.

Dr. Blaine Talbut of Toledo promised to have between 75 and 100 crows ready for the hotel kitchen. Dr. Talbut insisted he had discovered the crow as a delicacy long before the citizens of Tulsa, Okla., ever thought of it. (They had a dinner last week).

Jay N. Ding Darling, head of the New American Wildlife institute, was invited and willing, but engagements took him away.

"I've eaten rattlesnake and alligator," said he, "why not crow?"

FOURTH JOINS VOTE RACE

KENTON, Feb. 21—Arden Searson, Liberty township farmer, trustee and World War veteran, today tossed his hat into the ring as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for county commissioner. He will make the scrap a four-way one, with Commissioners Elmer Ramge and Grover C. McElree, and Henry Siemon, Jackson township farmer, as the other known contestants for the nomination.

Men Who May Be Nominated

One of a Series on Republican Presidential Possibilities

Although he never has deserted the Republican banner, Sen. William E. Borah has distinguished his long years in Washington by supporting candidates and issues as he himself saw fit. He is pictured above in two characteristic poses.

The political background of the men most prominently mentioned for the Republican presidential nomination are discussed in a series of six articles, of which this is the first.

BY KIRKE SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—Wherever men talk of possibilities for the Republican nomination, he who could have been vice president is never ignored.

He is Sen. William E. Borah of Idaho, rounding out as dean of the senate 30 unbroken and spectacularly independent years of service.

Down those tramping decades Borah has heard his name called again and again for highest party honors, only to have the call die away against the strangely irregular pattern of his party regularity. At 71, when most men in public life see their careers closing, he hears that call again—louder, more insistent than ever before.

For the first time he has assented to use of his name in party primaries outside his own state—has said, even, that he expects to be the presidential nominee. Yet there is no more certainty among his party colleagues that he is actually seeking a nomination than there is as to Herbert Hoover's real intent.

A Sturdy Figure

These two are mystery figures. They were closely allied in 1928, with Borah in a vital president-maker role behind Hoover's candidacy; far apart in 1932, with Borah, aloof and silent, contributing perhaps to Hoover's defeat.

Borah, at 71, is a sturdy, ample figure, with seamed and craggy countenance, and disorderly shock of hair that largely defies time's whitening and thinning touch. In senate debate he remains impressive with his virility in thought and speech.

Whether he is named for President or not, he has marched already to fame and influence in the nation, to a place of his own in the world affairs.

And it is a strangely lonely way down which he has come, a way of his own choosing. He has been at his best alone, sometimes an irreconcilable rebel against the accepted doctrines of his party; again its ablest campaigner; still again standing in silent, lowering disapproval of party choice or action—but never going to the final point of party desertion.

Backed Theodore Roosevelt

So he stood in 1912, a vigorous fighter for the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt against President Taft. But when the break came he did not follow Roosevelt into the progressive third party movement.

When President Coolidge was to be nominated, at another Cleveland convention, in 1924, and a Democratic party torn by internal strife made Republican victory certain, Borah was the Coolidge choice for running mate.

He scorned the honor, would make no permanent peace with party leadership or policies he disapproved.

In spite of this, he was a Coolidge supporter. He would have been vice president, perhaps President long ago, but for that choice.

Now Borah again has raised the anti-monopoly standard that the progressives under Roosevelt flaunted in 1912 — and under which Borah did not march with them. He demands Republican party liberalization in the 1912 Roosevelt-progressive mold. His candidacy, whatever else it may mean, represents that determination primarily.

Warmer Weather Ahead, But It's A Long Way Off

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 21—Warmer days are ahead for the northern half of the United States Prof William E Powers said today but he didn't refer to a break in winters cold, nor to the advent of spring

An assistant professor of geology at Northwestern university Prof Powers observed merely that we now appear to be nearing the end of the last of four glacial periods and temperatures in this country are tending to go up slightly

Northern states he added thousands of years hence may bask in temperatures comparable to that of the Carolinas

In Cincinnati as an exchange professor at the University of Cincinnati Dr Powers asserted that if the average temperature for the year were lowered 5 to 10 degrees over a long period the northern part of the United States would return to the glacial period

He said temperatures for various years differ only slightly when averaged for 365-day periods and that a long period possibly thousands of years with an average temperature in Chicago of around 4.. degrees and in Cincinnati of around 48 eventually would bring a return to an ice age

Chicago according to U S weather bureau records has a normal mean temperature of 48.5 degrees and Cincinnati 53.

MORE LAYOFFS LOOM IN COLUMBUS CRISIS

Safety Director Says One Half of Police and Fire Forces Will Have To Be Dismissed

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O Feb 21—Ohio's capital city pulled up short today in the midst of an unprecedented financial crisis

Safety Director Harry E French predicted that as a result of defeat of a proposed three mill levy one half of the city's present police and fire forces of 329 and 338 men respectively would be laid off

Mayor Myron B Cessna has already ordered dismissal of 400 civilian employes in an effort to balance the city budget

French said the city police department was already under par because economy had prevented filling vacancies

By standards set up by the U S government he said Columbus is a fourth class city as far as police protection is concerned

He expressed fear that the expected layoffs in the department would result in an influx of outside criminals

The city has $3 600 000 in outstanding bonds

French said the three mill levy defeated Tuesday by a close margin would have produced more than $800 000 annually and fixed present income for operating expenses

Sun May Thwart Johnson's Throw at Rappahannock

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON Feb 21—The elements appeared today to be conspiring to thwart Walter Johnson's attempt to throw a silver dollar across the Rappahannock river at Fredericksburg Va tomorrow in emulation of George Washington's legendary feat

A broad smile brightened Rap Sol Bloom's face as he heard that a thaw is imminent up the river and that the stream may be much broader tomorrow than the 372 feet it measured today

Strict believers in all George Washington yarns have showered denunciations on the New York representative because he says the father of his country never tossed the dollar He says the river measured 1,200 or 1 400 feet across in those days

Even if the flood does not occur Johnson former speedball king of baseball is doubtful whether he can make the throw

Snow and ice are piled high along the banks and the footing is tough

However the Fredericksburg Chamber of Commerce sponsor of the experiment is trying to overcome that hazard

"We are building a sort of platform for Johnson,' said Ben F Pitts president of the chamber

'Illegal' shouted Bloom. "First they fail to observe the original distance now they're helping Johnson with a wooden platform."

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 21—The approaching anniversary of George Washington's birth recalled to historians today an exploration trip he made down the Ohio river in 1770, but some dispute remained as to how much of the trip was made within what is now the state of Ohio.

It had been thought for years that Washington and his party walked overland across the "great bend" in the Ohio river but after careful study of Washington's diaries and comparison of the terrain along the river, Prof. Guy-Harold Smith of Ohio State university said he believed the trip was made along the West Virginia side

We went round to the window. That was fastened also and Roger had to smash it. It wasn't till then that Nicholson appeared upon the scene very suddenly.

He'd left a stick behind earlier in the afternoon and had come back for it."

Bobby was frowning with the process of thought.

"Listen Frankie. Suppose that actually Nicholson shot Bassington ffrench—"

Having induced him first to write a suicide's letter of farewell?

"I should think that would be the easiest thing in the world to fake. Any alteration in hand writing would be put down to agitation.

"Yes that's true. Go on with your theory."

"Nicholson shoots Bassington ffrench leaves the farewell letter and nips out locking the door—to appear again a few minutes later as though he had just arrived."

Frankie shook her head regretfully.

"It's a good idea—but it won't work. To begin with the key was in Henry Bassington ffrench's pocket—"

"Who found it there?"

"Well as a matter of fact Nicholson did."

"There you are. What's easier for him than to pretend to find it there?"

"I was watching him—remember I'm sure the key was in the pocket."

"That's what one says when one watches a conjurer. You see the rabbit being put into the hat. If Nicholson is a high class criminal a simple little bit of sleight of hand like that would be child play to him."

"Well you may be right about that but honestly Bobby the whole thing's impossible. Sylvia Bassington ffrench was actually in the house when the shot was fired. The moment she heard it she ran out into the hall."

"If Nicholson had fired the shot and come out through the study door she would have been bound to see him. Besides she told us that he actually came up the drive to the front door. She saw him coming as we ran round the house and went to meet him and brought him round the study window. No Bobby I hate to say it but the man has an alibi."

"On principle I distrust people who have alibis" said Bobby.

"So do I. But I don't see how you can get round this one."

"No. Sylvia Bassington ffrench's word ought to be good enough."

"Yes. Indeed."

"Well" said Bobby with a sigh "I suppose we'll have to leave it at suicide. Poor devil. What's the next angle of attack Frankie?"

"The Caymans" said Frankie "I can't think how we've been so remiss as not to have looked them up before. You've kept the address Cayman wrote from haven't you?"

"Yes. It's the same they gave at the inquest. Number 17 St. Leonard's Gardens Paddington."

"Don't you agree that we've rather neglected that channel of inquiry?"

"Absolutely. All the same you know Frankie I've got a very shrewd idea that you'll find the birds flown. I should imagine that the Caymans weren't exactly born yesterday."

"Even if they have gone off I may find out something about them."

"Why, I?"

"Because once again I don't think you'd better appear in the matter. It's like coming down here when we thought Roger was the bad man of the show. You are known to them and I am not."

"And how do you propose to make their acquaintance" asked Bobby.

"I shall be something political" said Frankie. "Canvassing for the Conservative party. I shall arrive with leaflets."

"Good enough" said Bobby. "But as I said before I think you'll find the birds flown. Now there's another thing that requires to be thought of. Moira."

"Goodness" said Frankie. "I'd forgotten all about her."

"So I noticed" said Bobby with a trace of coldness in his manner.

"You're right" said Frankie thoughtfully. "Something must be done about her."

Bobby nodded. The strange haunting face came up before his eyes. There was something tragic about it. He had always felt this from the first moment when he had taken the photograph from Alan Carstairs's pocket.

"If you'd seen her that night when I first went to the Grange" he said. "She was crazy with fear—and I tell you Frankie she's right. It's not nerves nor imagination nor anything like that. If Nicholson wants to marry Sylvia Bassington ffrench two obstacles have got to go. One's gone. I've a feeling that Moira's life is hanging by a hair and that any delay may be fatal."

Frankie was sobered by the earnestness of his words.

"My dear you're right" she said. "We must act quickly. What shall we do?"

"We must persuade her to leave the Grange—at once."

Frankie nodded. "I tell you what she said. She'd better go down to Wales—to the Castle. Heaven knows she ought to be safe enough there."

"If you can fix that Frankie nothing could be better."

"Well it's simple enough. Father never notices who goes or comes. He'll like Moira—nearly any man would. She's so feminine. It's extraordinary how men like helpless women."

"I don't think Moira is particularly helpless" said Bobby.

"Nonsense. She's like a little bird that sits and waits to be eaten by a snake without doing anything about it."

"What could she do?"

"Heaps of things" said Frankie vigorously. "Well I don't see it. She's got no money no friends—"

"My dear don't drone on as though you were recommending a case to the Girls' Friendly Society."

"Sorry" said Bobby.

There was an offended pause.

"Well" said Frankie recovering her temper. "As you were. I think we'd better get on to this business as soon as possible."

"So do I" said Bobby. "Really Frankie it's awfully decent of you to—"

"That's all right" said Frankie interrupting him. "I don't mind befriending the girl so long as you don't drivel on about her as though she had no hands or feet or tongue or brains."

"I simply don't know what you mean" said Bobby.

"Well we needn't talk about it" said Frankie. "Now my idea is that whatever we're going to do we'd better do it quickly. Is that a quotation?"

"It's a paraphrase of one. Go on, Lady Macbeth."

"You know I've always thought," said Frankie suddenly digressing wildly from the matter in hand "that Lady Macbeth incited Macbeth to do all those murders simply and solely because she was so frightfully bored with life—and incidentally with Macbeth."

Frankie has a fright tomorrow.

Married Comrades

BY ADELE GARRISON

Betty's Big "Surprise" Turns Out To Be a Turtle.

"WELL, soon know," Katherine said in answer to my plaint that I wondered what the "surprise" which Roderick and Betty had found could be. "We're almost up to the main roadway now and see Williams and the children are turning aside into the meadow. One thing's certain. They've picked themselves a swell stage setting."

I followed her pointing hand to a level grassy place beneath two beautiful maple trees with the lake showing just beyond.

"You couldn't pick anything else in New Hampshire," I said. "But that is a rarely beautiful spot. Why do you suppose that wire is there?"

"Looks to me as if they had tried to build Faith a play pen," Katherine commented.

"It is a play pen." Mary chuckled. "She was walking just behind us with Noel, if a pace constantly interrupted by little sidewise skippings could be dubbed a walk."

"Come back here, cheater," she called to her uncle for Dicky's stride had quickened when he saw the wire enclosure. "Don't you dare get there ahead."

"Then pick up yoh feets," Dicky said turning and grinning at us and then dropping back beside me.

It's a Turtle

"Feets are comin' a runnin'," Mary caroled and indeed the place was nearer a run than a walk as we hurried over the short distance remaining.

"There. What do you think of that smarty?" Betty was saying to Junior as we reached the playpen and I saw that the frankly admiring and flattering attitude with which she had listened to Junior's sash of his trip had vanished and that in its stead was the disdainful defiance which only small girls can achieve to perfection.

Junior had only himself to blame for this particular slap. I told myself remembering his unnecessary swagger when he had greeted Betty's boast concerning her surprise with the announcement that he had to be shown.

But that he was nonplussed as well as resentful at her swift change of attitude I knew by the sulky furtive look he gave her even as surprise brought forth his inevitable "Gee" and his innate honesty compelled the grudging comment "Yes that is something."

I agreed with him as did the rest of us when looking over the improvised wire fence we saw a huge turtle the largest I had ever seen outside a museum resting on the grass facing us with a vigilant watchfulness which fell to my imagination a touch of malignance.

"I'll say it's something" Dicky said. "A snapping turtle by Jove and the grandaddy of all of 'em. I should say by the looks of him."

Mary laughed aloud.

Aunts Surprised Too'

"Didn't I say Noel" she cried "that the look on the faces of the aunts would be priceless? They haven't said a word."

"Nor are we likely to," Katherine said in answer to my plaint that I wondered what the "surprise" which Roderick and Betty had found could be. "We're almost up to the main roadway now and see Williams and the children are turning aside into the meadow. One thing's certain. They've picked themselves a swell stage setting."

"Didn't I say Noel" she cried "that the look on the faces of the aunts would be priceless? They haven't said a word."

"Nor are we likely to," Katherine said dryly "at the present rate of conversation around here."

"Touche!" Mary grinned. "But isn't that thing a humdinger?"

"It is all of that." I agreed. "Where did you find it?" I turned to the children, but they did not hear me, for Roderick had jumped over the low fence.

"Let me show you a trick" he said just as Betty cleared the wires and landed beside him.

"Me first!" she announced determinedly but Dicky effortlessly had reached them and had a restraining hand on each of them before they could make a further movement.

"We'll settle this delicate question right now" he said. "Have you tried this trick before?"

"No-o" Roderick admitted hesitatingly. "Mr. Williams wouldn't let us" he said until you came home."

Dicky's lips twitched.

"Well you've lost no time in interpreting his permission. I'll say that for you" he said. "But because you can't agree as to which will be the first to exhibit the trick—and for other reasons I prefer that Mr. Williams should show us the trick first."

BY HELEN ROWLAND

RULES FOR RULING A HUSBAND

The first rule for ruling a husband is—love him. Love him spasmodically frankly and unselfishly. Before marriage men may be fickle labels—but after marriage they want to be petted flattered and coddled. Defrost your affections—and keep the heart fires burning.

Never try to change him. If he is a collector who makes a curiosity shop of the living room and a junk shop of the kitchen just remember that dogs monkeys and men simply must collect things. They all have the same urge.

Don't be the guardian of his stomach or the censor of his diet. When you see him trying to commit suicide by stuffing himself with things that would fix the digestion of an ostrich just shut your eyes and pray—for self control.

Never tell him all about yourself. Talk to him about books politics the news the neighbors and his own wonderful charms and accomplishments—but not about your own thoughts doings and interests. It is only what he does not know about a woman that interests a man.

• • •

Don't elect yourself his little human alarm clock. Nobody loves an alarm clock. If he cannot wake up on time in the morning let the cook or the telephone girl be his Big Ben—and avoid that morning scrap. Most divorces are started before 8 a. m.

And never cherish the fond delusion that you can break him of his prowling habits. Every husband was once a bachelor—and they all have the midnight complex. If he has no other place to wander, he will wander about the house, raid the ice box and go down into the cellar in search of adventure. Let him prowl!

Don't be fussy about little things. If he wants to keep his cuff links under the bed and his shoes on the chiffonier don't nag him about it. A house that can't be mussed up is no "home" to any man. And most modernistic furniture is as cosy and inviting as a mausoleum. Give him big easy chairs, good reading lights and a free hand with his cigar ashes.

• • •

Never ask him where he has been nor what he has been doing. A wife who asks questions is hired just like an income-tax-questionnaire. And cherished like an investigating committee! Besides, you won't find out anything—except what he intended to tell you anyhow.

Don't let him choose your clothes and never ask his opinion of how you look. Every man secretly believes that he is a fashion expert. But if a woman followed her husband's advice she would go about looking like a cross between Mother Hubbard and Mae West—with a dash of Shirley Temple. He will always dislike your clothes at first—and love them by the time you are ready to throw them away. That's habit!"

These are nine good rules for any spring bride who prefers harmony to alimony and peace of mind to stenograph.

A marriage is seldom shattered by any one big heart break—it just wears out under a thousand little irritations and gradually comes apart.

The Harding High Presidents and the junior varsity will travel to Ashland tonight to engage in two games which may decide the outcome of both divisions of the North Central Ohio league pennant race

St Mary Parochial High will play its final scheduled contest on the Upper Sandusky court tonight

Vernon Heights Junior High will entertain the Central Junior High teams tonight in the final game on the City Junior High league schedule In the varsity division the Central cagers are given only an outside chance to upset the dope bucket and deadlock the first position of the league by scoring a victory over Vernon's team Vernon now has a record of two victories and one defeat while Central has lost two and won one Should Central win the city league varsity teams would finish in a tie for top honors Vernon's junior varsity team has already annexed the league title

Starting lineups for the Marion Ashland N C O contest tonight are far from definite but fans were guessing today just which players would receive the starting call There is little question that the Harding quintet will be selected from the six regulars who have been carrying the brunt of the burden during the second round of loop play

Probable Lineups

Robert Minard Rex Frazier and Lamar Faught stand ready to handle the forward assignments Bill Tierney co-scorer of the team and league undoubtedly will fill the center position Evans and Conroy will probably be at the guard posts

For Ashland its a good bet that the opening line up will read something like this forwards Plank and Sprague center Zercher with Hockensmith and Kochi as guards Bob Sprague has been alternating with Tierney for the past several weeks in the top spot of the individual league scoring list Harding's forward moved into the lead last week with a total of 70 points in seven league games while Sprague is just four points behind with 66 in the same number of contests

Ben Hockensmith Ashland guard has been in the scoring column consistently this season and for the past month has ranked in the first five of the top scorers At present he is fourth with a total of 59 points Marion may experience considerable trouble in holding down these two fast stepping teammates who have done much to keep the team in second place with only one league defeat to mar its record That was suffered at the hands of the Harding cagers when the two teams met earlier this season

BROOKLYN DODGERS BUY BUDDY HASSETT FROM NEWARK TEAM

Sensational Young First Baseman Acquired for Two Players and $5,000.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK Feb 21—Following up the sale of Sam Leslie to the New York Giants for a reported price of $20000 the Brooklyn Dodgers today took another step in their reconstruction program by acquiring John (Buddy) Hassett sensational young first baseman from the Newark Internationals

To obtain Hassett less than three years out of Manhattan college and a farm product of the New York Yankees Brooklyn turned over two players and a "substantial sum in cash to Newark according to announcement by John Gorman Dodger business manager The players are Ralph Boyle outfielder and John McCarthy first baseman The cash was estimated at $5 000

Leslie's purchase by the Giants who traded him to the Dodgers three years ago for Watson Clark and Lefty O'Doul does not mean Manager Bill Terry will retire from active duty Terry is 37 and wants to ease off but he is still the hardest hitting and best fielding first baseman in the National league He will start the season but doubts if he will play over 100 games A left handed slugger Sam hit .308 last year and drove in 97 runs

Hassett although he has yet to experience major league fire is rated as highly that Manager Casey Stengel has no doubt the ex collegian will be the regular Brooklyn first sacker

Hassett with Columbus in the American Association last year broke his ankle in June He was back in action in September and hit .337 in 78 games Before closing the deal Brooklyn had Buddy's ankle X rayed by its own doctor who reported the leg entirely sound

Tremaine, Watters To Wrestle Here Monday

Brought here by popular demand the two stellar wrestling matches booked at the Shovel gym auditorium for next Monday night should attract wide attention Andy Tremaine and Teddy Watters are matched to meet in one of the two main bouts and in the other big attraction fans will see Sailor Watkins and Ernie Dugan exchange holds and punches

All four men appeared on the card here last week and their performances brought such a large number of requests for their return that the local promoters matched them for bouts here next week

The Watters-Tremaine bout should be a fast clean and scientific tangle if the 20-minute preliminary here last week is any basis upon which to judge The two men exchanged holds last week that had fans asking for more Sporting new types of holds and breaks the wrestlers grappled through a clean encounter which was minus the slightest hint of rough stuff Tremaine and Watters worked to a draw at the finish of their bout last week.

Watters displayed his unique type of balance which kept Tremaine and the fans wondering just what was going to happen next The men are evenly matched and should present an excellent main go Monday night

The Ernie Dugan Sailor Watkins match will if predictions hold good be the direct opposite of the first main go Both men declare themselves for the survival of the fittest type of tangling with only the illegal holds which are visible to the referee barred Slamming and banging their way through contests here last week Dugan and Watkins gave fans plenty of entertainment

They had separate opponents and showed that they can give and receive in a good measure Fans who were disgruntled by their rough tactics last week should enjoy seeing the score evened when the two rough boys take it out on each other Entirely capable as wrestlers it seems the pair would rather participate in the slam bang encounters than settle down to straight wrestling.

The Monday card will begin at 8 30 p m with a 20-minute preliminary
